Q.2 Solve the Worksheet given below:

READING

Q1 Read the following unseen passage and answer the questions given below:

Newspapers have become very important to people, like the Gita, the Bible, and the Quran. People believe what they read in the newspapers, so it's a big responsibility for the editors and writers.

Newspapers have a lot of influence. Editors need to make sure that they don't print false stories. They have to be very careful and check the news and how they present it. Governments can't easily control the press in a free country. It's up to the public to watch over the newspapers and make sure they do the right thing. Informed people won't support newspapers that try to stir up trouble or print indecent things.

Journalism's main goal should be to serve the public. Newspapers have a lot of power, but like a wild river, if it's not controlled, it can cause a lot of harm. But who gets to decide what's useful or useless? Just like good and bad things coexist, we have to make our own choices.
